I am searching for direction in a universe where Millions of networks intertwine.
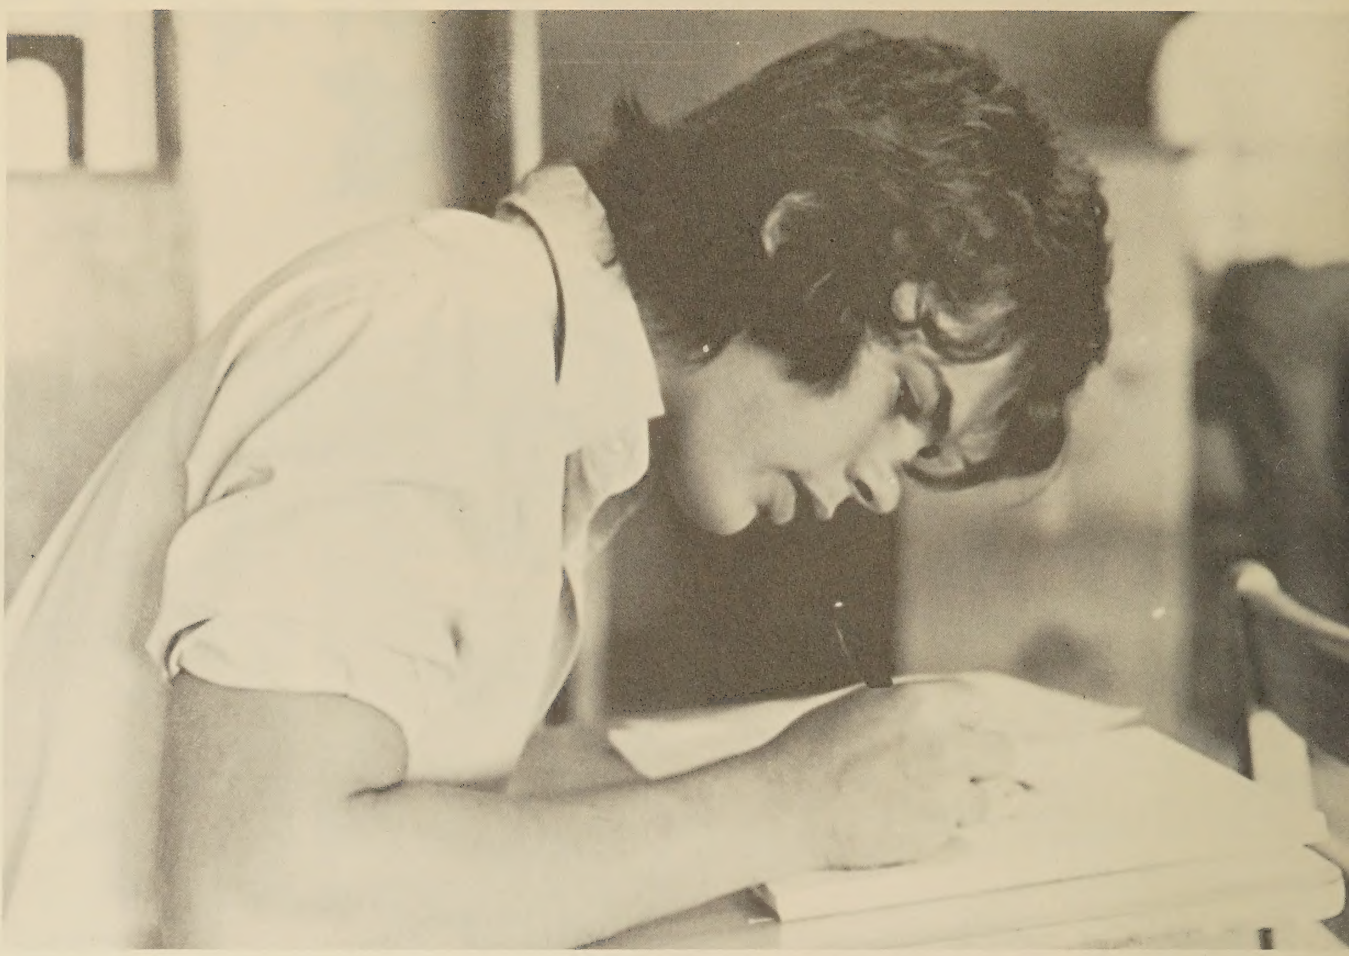
I am living.



I am searching for the place
in my world
Where I can put my talents
to use,
Where I can communicate with you.
I want to express myself in my own way.
I am searching.

I am searching for the time to be myself,
To find freedom within the limits of my surroundings;
To learn what life offers and to accept its challenge.
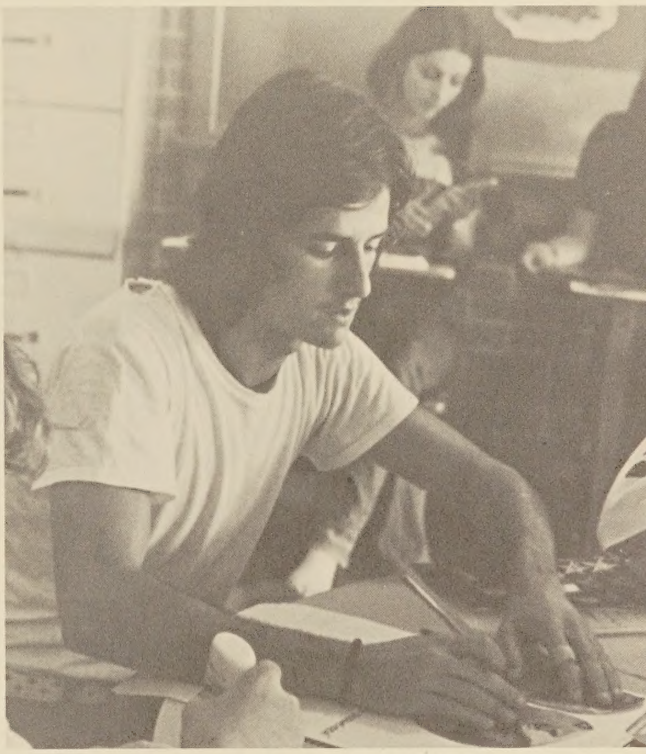
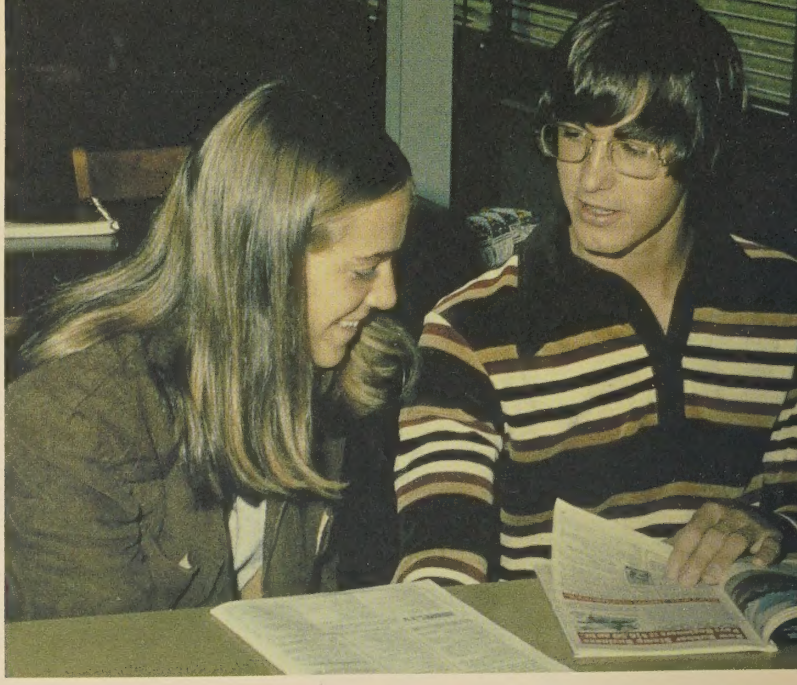
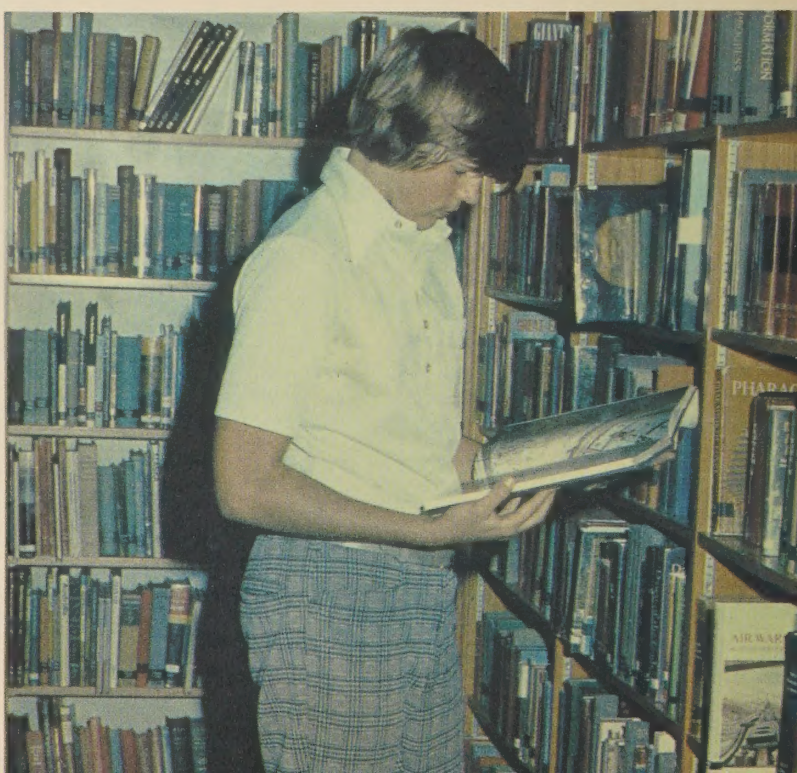
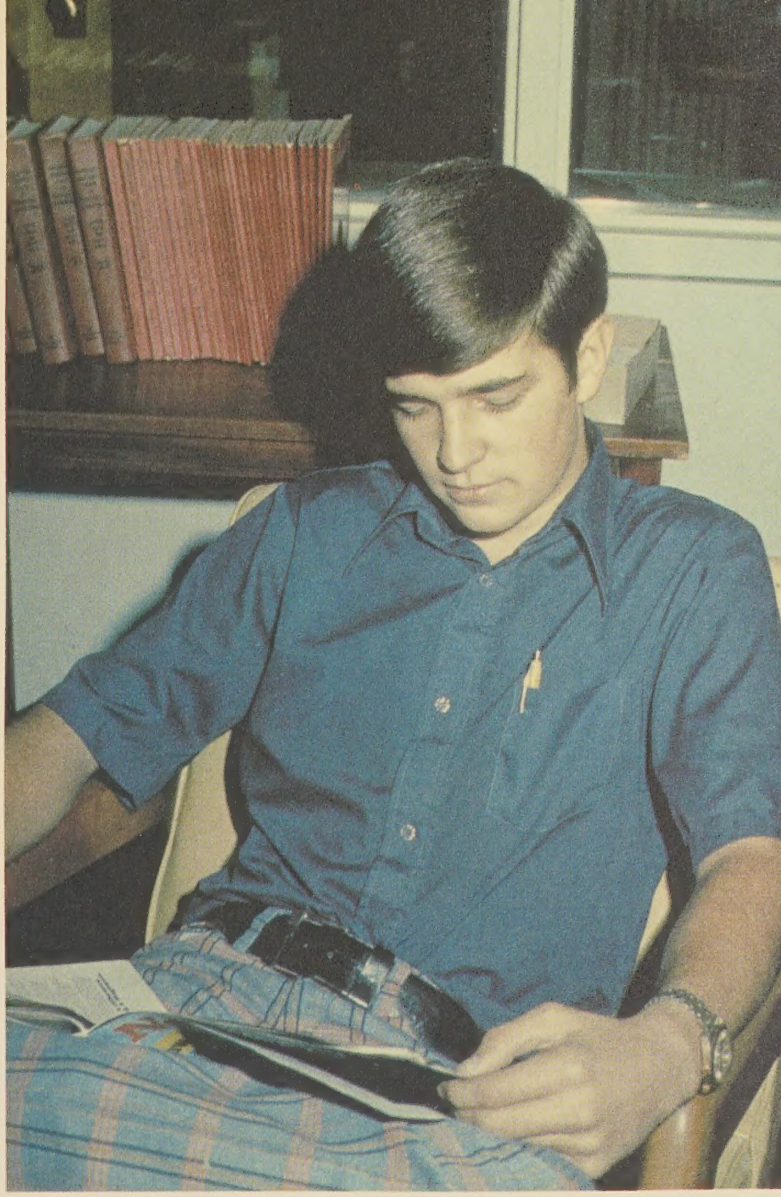
I am growing.

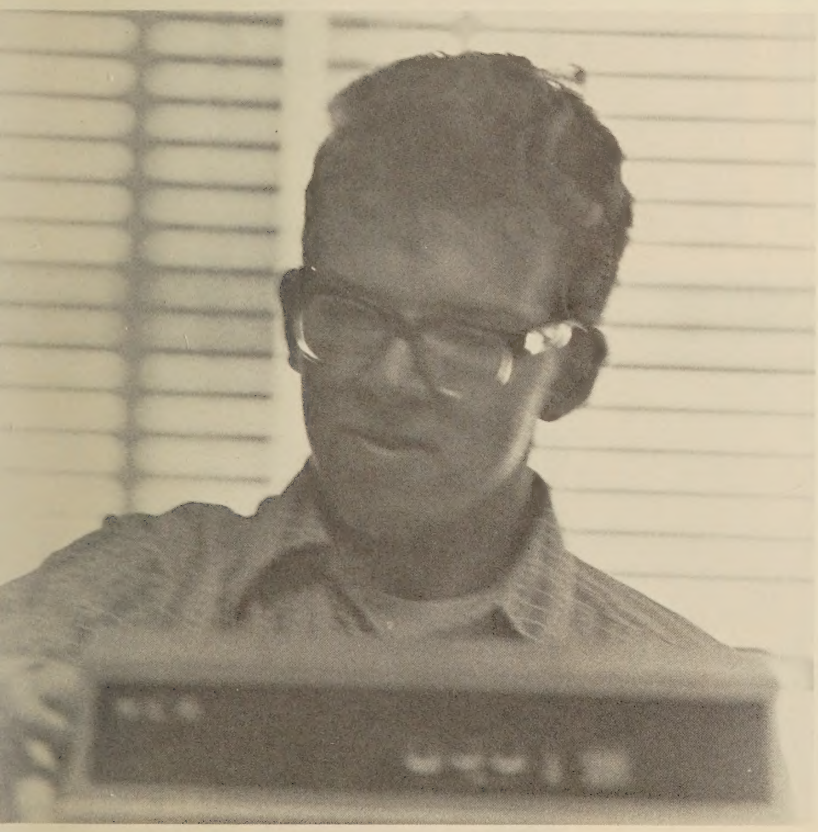




82







I am searching for acceptance
among the many people
I encounter day to day.

I want to be involved with my fellow man
So that I may learn who he is.
I am learning.

I am searching for experiences that will enrich my life.
I am living, learning, growing.
One among many,
I am searching.

1/The distinguished decision makers for the 1974-75 school year are Left to Right: Leland Zollinger, High School Supervisor; Glenn Marlow, Superintendent; Sammy Reese and William Barnwell, Assistant Superintendents.
2/Mr. Ford makes phone calls, writes letters, and holds private conferences to help the seniors prepare to face the adult world.
3/Mrs. Williams checks over the receipts.
4/Dr. Ledbetter wonders what will happen next?
5/Mr. Williams questions the validity of an excuse.
6/Mrs. Edney makes up a daily absence list.

As the school day officially began, teachers and students bombarded

the office with excuses, tardies, and schedule changes. Dr. Ledbetter and his staff calmly faced all calamities that arose. Teachers and students, utilizing the office as neutral ground for airing complaints, found workable solutions.

Every morning while we were yawning our way into another day the ladies in the lunchroom were busily preparing the noon-day meal. When finished with the preparation of the lunch, the ladies dug in behind the counters and readied themselves for the hungry

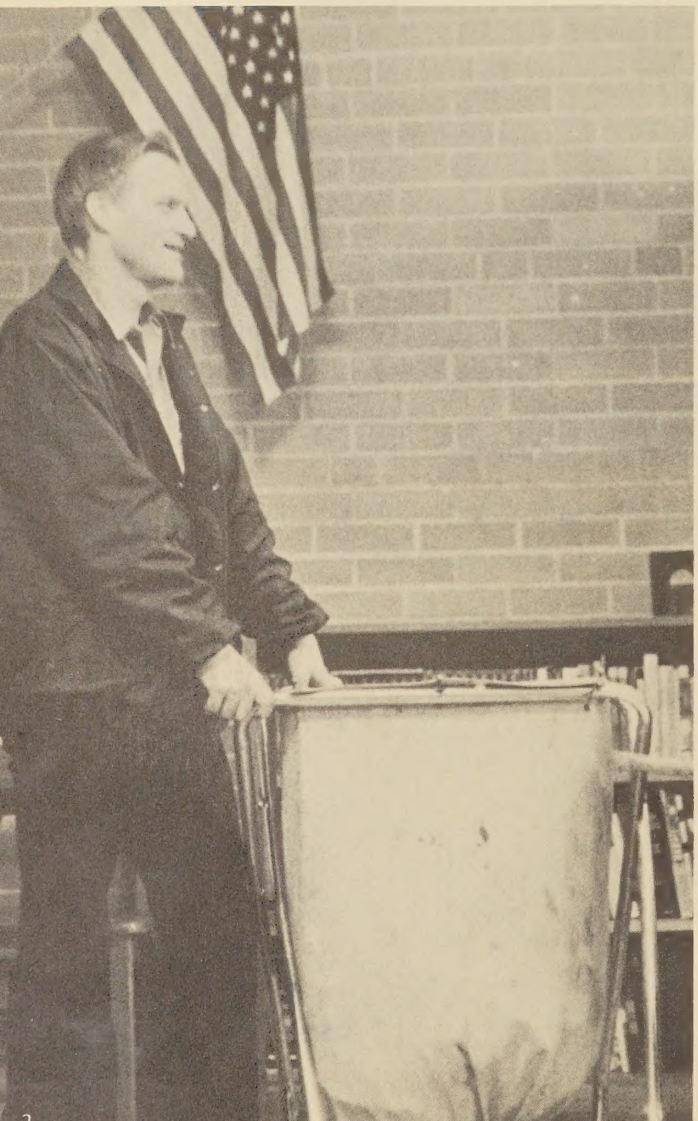
of class weary students. The warmth and cleanliness of the buildings, important and generally unrecognized comforts provided by our custodians.

1/Fulfilling the needs of hungry students this years cafeteria staff are, Left to Right; Bessie Smith, Eula Case, Mabel Justice, Callie Johnson, and Ruth Ward.
2/Kenny Walker provides many necessary services for the school.
3/The man everyone turns to for heat on a cold day or light when the bulb is blown is Mr. Charles Williams.
4/Mrs. Faye Chandler helps to fulfill the teachers needs as well as the students.



Preparation for a life expanding into the future . . .
The Business Department took into its hands

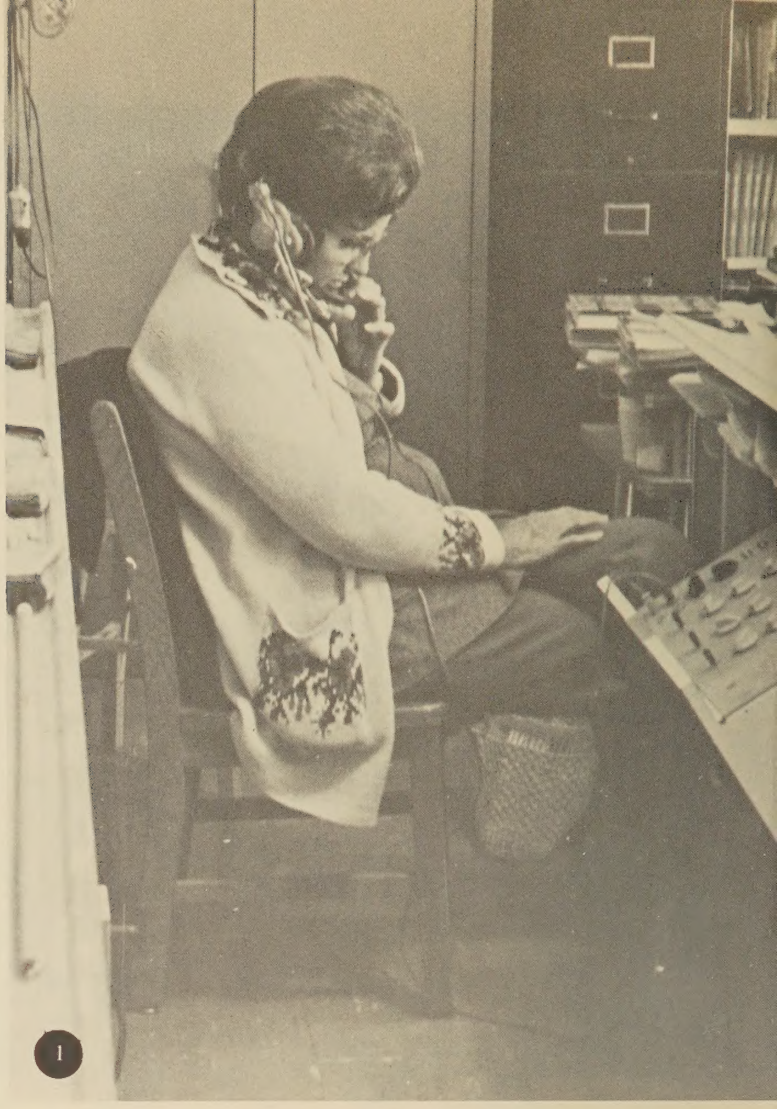
the responsibility of instructing students in skills to carry them into a better tomorrow. Students in Typing I found themselves learning the keyboard and attempting to keep in step while time writing. Typing II students, with the keyboard now second nature to their mind and hands, typed their days away. Students in office practice took with them the art of answering the phone, using office machinery, and filing.

1/Helping students expand their horizons into a better tomorrow are business teachers Mrs. Carolyn Hawkins, Mrs. Dorothy Meader, Mrs. Brenda Gray, and Mrs. Margaret Nicholson.
2/Kay Stepp questions a mistake made by the slip of a finger.
3/Diane Stepp smirks at even the thought of having to do a timed writing.



Many students after diligently working for seventy minutes on fundamentals in French I. grammar and vocabulary in French II, and translation and review in French III left

Madame

Crawford's class with these words upon their lips, "J'ai mal á la têtе!" ("I have a headache!"). With determination and aspirin, they made it through a year.

1/"Crawford to class, Crawford to class. Do you read me?"
2/Lynn Henderson searches for misplaced homework.
3/"Gosh, I didn't know she could hear me!"

The art room provided a place for varied people, diversified talents,

and a new teacher, Miss Jones. Miss Jones completed her first year at East with the satisfaction of seeing her students complete projects in perspective drawing, ceramics, string art, sculpture, and many other interesting and enjoyable forms of art.

1/Miss Jones carefully examines ceramic mold for even texture and defects.
2/Keith Young displays amazing dexterity in his sketching of a tree.
3/Tammy Laughter puts the last few touches of glaze on her mug, a popular ceramic piece with art students.

At last year's seminar on the UNC-A campus, the staff won a full spread of color. With this bonus and the new ad layouts, the 1975 Highlander staff worked hard to increase the quality of the book.

New members struggled with the frustrations of operating scaleographs and having too few pictures as deadlines arrived.

1/While Kathy Cairens and Alma Head discuss a serious problem, June Ward finds her float more interesting and Barbara Garland is distracted by something in the corner.
2/Debra Ward and Phillipa Smith busy themselves to meet upcoming deadlines.
3/Genial James Black, usually on the "taking" end of a camera, finds himself the subject of a hidden camera.
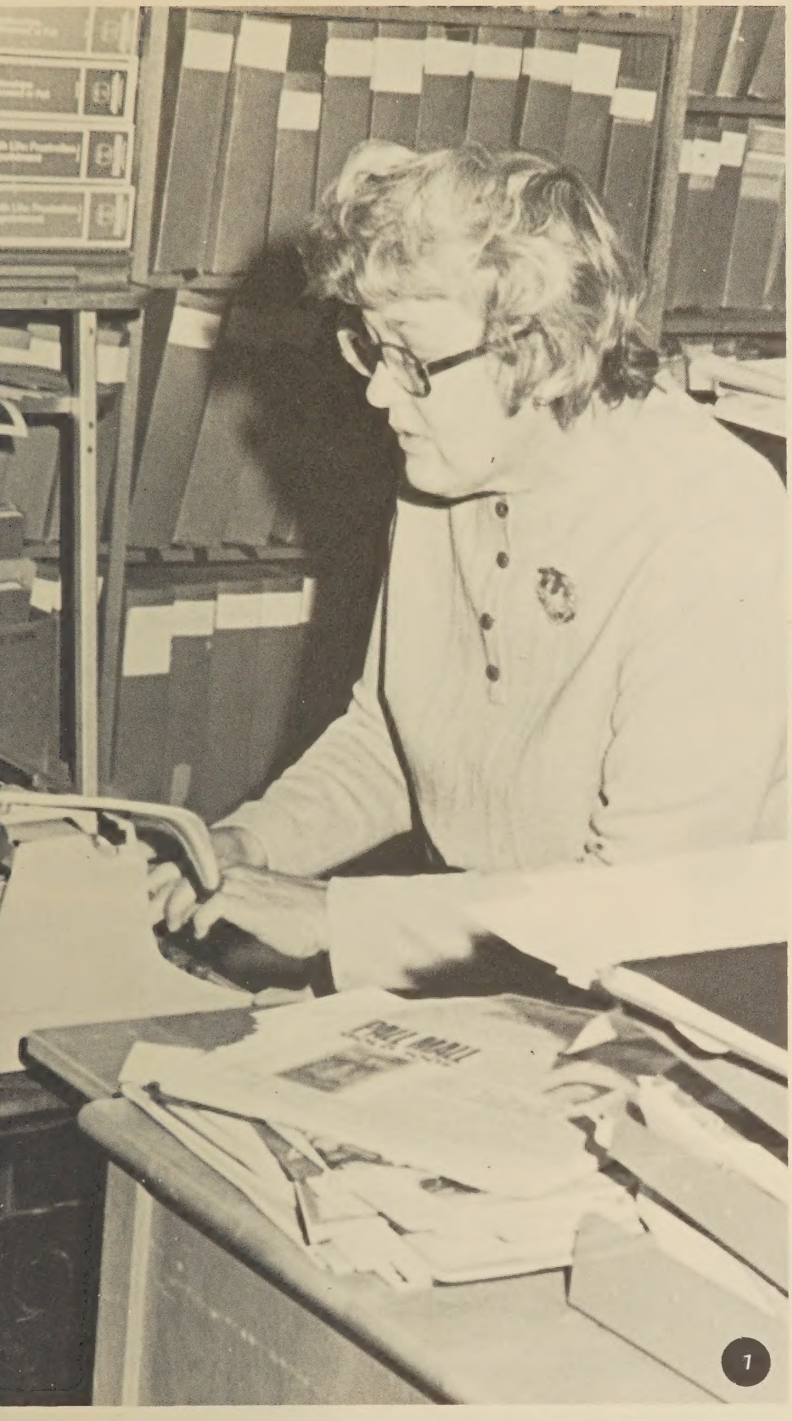
5/The folks who handle final decisions are Mrs. Nicholson, advisor; Patti Rogers, co-editor; Mrs. Nickell, advisor; and Kathy Cairens, co-editor.

Under the guidance of Mrs. Dianne Lanier and Lynn Gladieux, the newspaper staff turned out the 1974-75

Echo.

This year's price for the Echo was raised a nickel because of the rising cost of paper, printing and use of the press. This year's newspaper staff tried a new approach by allowing more room for literary works written by the students.

1/Mrs. Lanier and Lynn Gladieux discuss the upcoming edition of the Echo.
2/Mrs. Lanier realizes typing is one of many skills needed in being advisor of a newspaper.
3/The newspaper staff for the 1974-75 Echo is Richard Easterbrook, Jeffrey Wright, Phyllis Capps, Jill Robinson, Becky Pace, Brian Bennett, Cheryl Gladieux, Sam Fain, Herbie Armentrout, Wesley Wynn, Terry Pace, Debbie Dickens, and Lynn Gladieux.



The library doors opened with opportunities for any student who chose to walk through them. Club meeting and a Christmas Bazaar were held in the library and a glass showcase displayed current club and class projects throughout the year. Mrs. Hysong stood ready to help students who needed assistance. Library aides checked books and signed hall passes.

1/Mrs. Hysong diligently types away all necessary notices for over due books.
2/Janet Thompson looks bogged down with all the pressures of being a senior.
3/Rex Hitchcock finds it hard to keep his mind on his work.

Reach out into the future,
take hold of what's yours.
Become involved with the present know what it has in store . . .

involvement

The key word to the present. Mrs. Rhodes, resource teacher, made the future a better place for all her students. With her in E building, Mr. Phillips taught marketing to prepare his students for their working days ahead. Mrs. Mullins returned to the English department, for the third quarter classes.

1/The press box in action is the way it seems as Shiela Owenby and Kenny Walker view things from the top.
2/"Sing, sing out loud!"
3/Getting back into the old routine, Mrs. Mullins checks over her roll book.
4/Clifford Worsham takes in Mrs. Rhodes helpful advice.
5/"How on earth did he get me in check mate" seems to be the words Kenny Hargus is thinking.
6/Rex Issac remembers the name of the tool.
7/Mr. Phillips checks over the files of working students.
8/If eyes could talk imagine what Bill Johnston would be saying to Mr. Smith.
9/Sisterly love.

The social studies classes of the 1974-75 school year were concerned with the past, present, and future problems of a confused

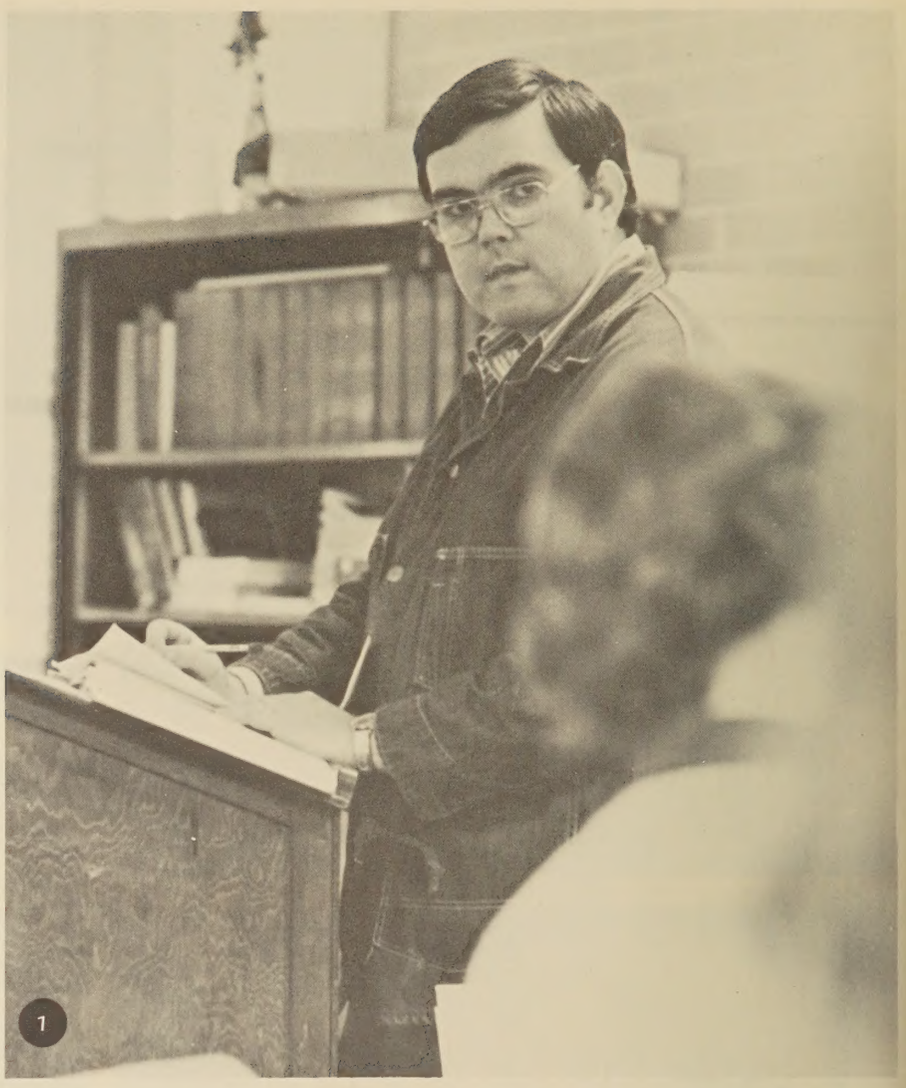
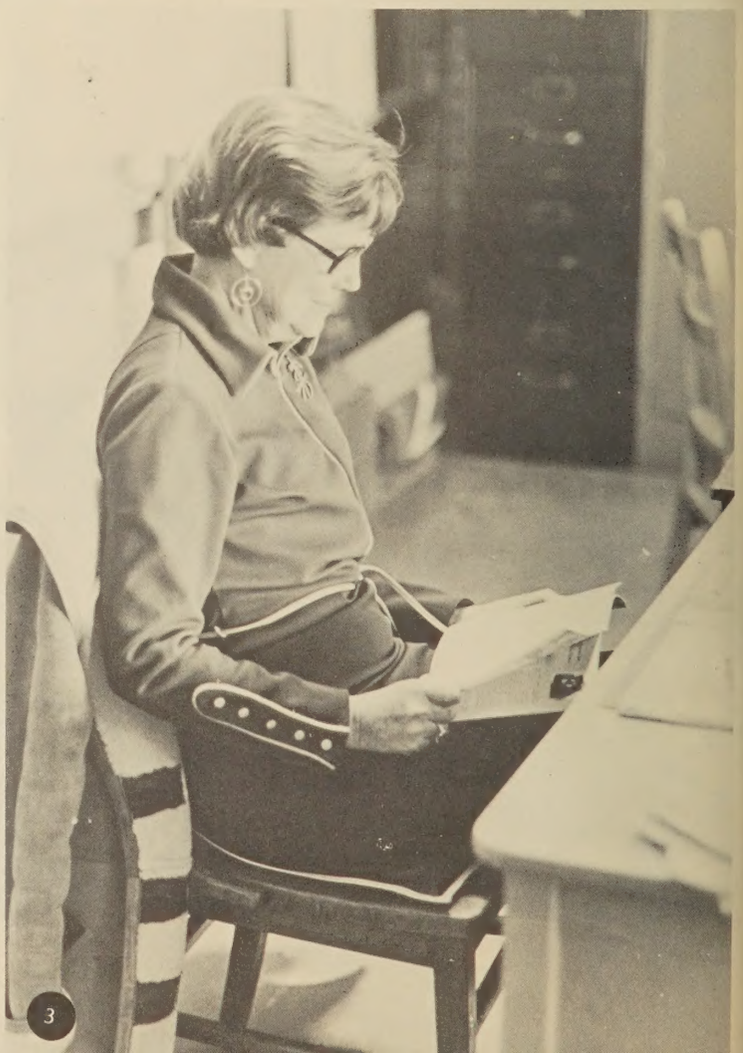
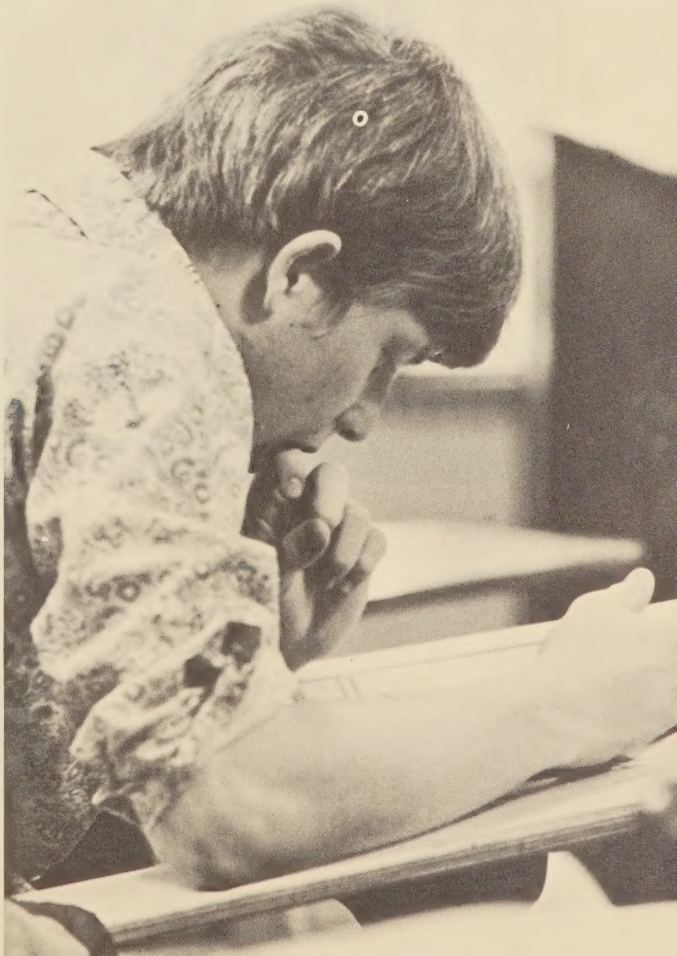
world and nation. Mrs. Foster carried on her regular world cultures class, while Mr. King joined Mr. McIntyre in covering the American front.





1/Mr. McIntyre quiets his students with a glance.
2/What makes Marcie smile?
3/Mrs. Foster studies materials for her next class.
4/Trying to make a point, Debbie?
5/Mr. King ponders what to say next.
6/Rex Hitchcock is the only student who studies social studies in B minor.



The math department acquired a new teacher in the field this year. Mr. Wayne Morrow enliving Consumer Math with his bubbling personality,

joined such seasoned veterans as John Jarvis and Kenneth Hysong. The clatter of pencils and whirring of minds, though sometimes interrupted by occasional chemistry accidents (explosions) from the science rooms, neither wavered nor halted the slide rules and dedication of math students.

1/Jackie Johnson uses his slide rule to get an assignment for his omnipresent notebook.
2/"It is elementary knowledge, students, that the square root of pie, in relation to negative powers, is 22, 23, Hike," — Coach Morrow.
3/Fifth period fatigue takes its toll on Laura Cornelius and Pam Clark.
4/Kenneth "Sweetums" Hysong is always willing to offer compassion and understanding to any student with math problems.
5/Mr. Jarvis applies the principales of geometry to the strategy of magazine sales.

Learning some of the basics of science, sophomores showed the usual opposition to dissecting

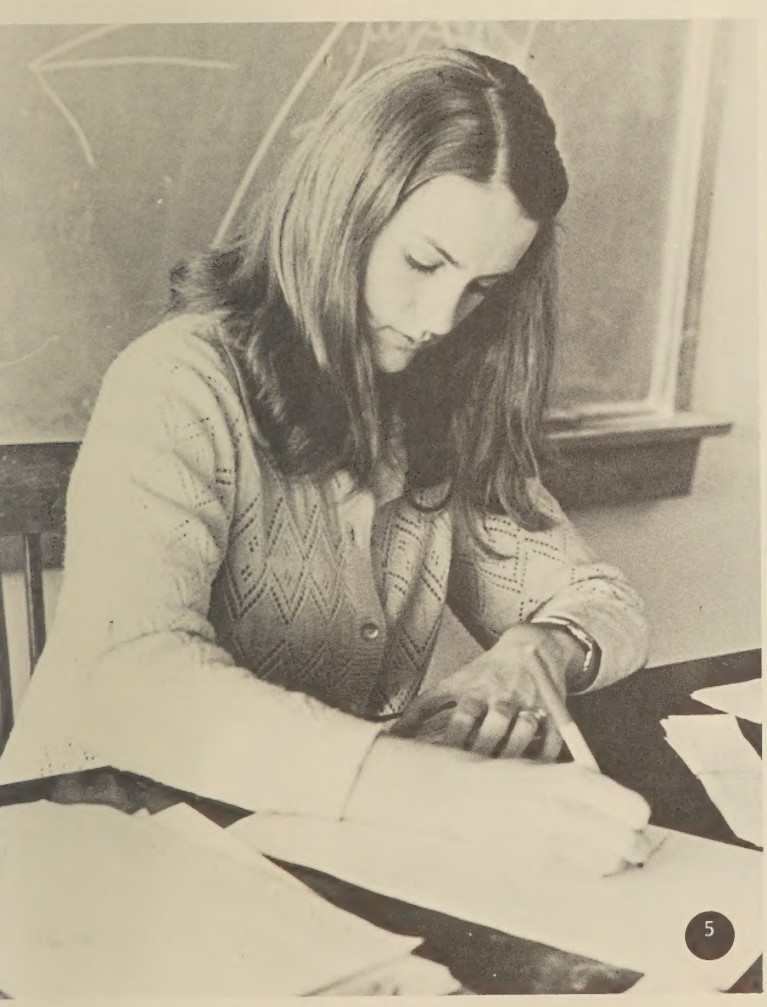
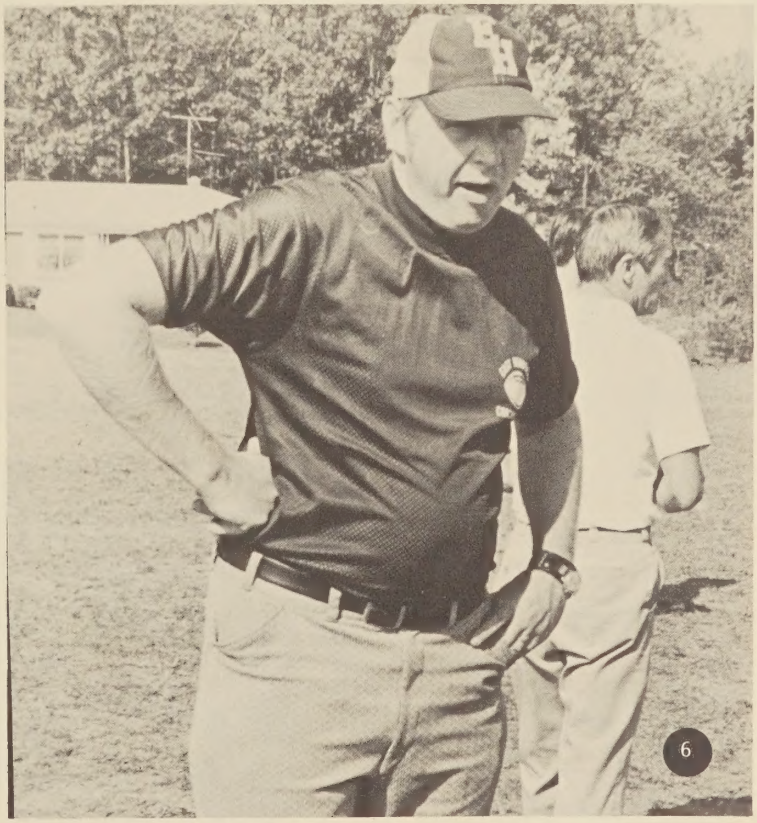
fetal pigs. After acquiring the knowledge of chemical compounds and their symbols, chemistry students experimented in the lab. Lethal fumes and sparks flying were the unexpected results of these experiments.

1/Running Santa and his elves a close second, Mrs. Barnwell and Kathy Freeman struggled with the science of stuffed toys.
2/Mrs. Oechslin's creative clutter!
3/Cheryl Grindle checks Chemistry equations and her equipment to produce satisfactory results in the lab.
4/"Making friends is what life is all about", says Cathy Hefner to her new playmate.
5/New science teacher, Mrs. Owenby, corrects those ever-present papers.
6/"Okay Coach Carter, it's eleven o'clock so get back to Biology!"





Students explored undiscovered

by enrolling in float classes providing a change in the daily routine. Many students had the privilege of taking driver's education under the supervision of Mr. Scott and Mr. Carter. While chess, volleyball, archery, golf, macrame, bowling, needlepoint and numerous other courses broke the monotony of classwork. Float period also provided a time for assemblies and class meetings.

1/Linda Rhodes works patiently on an item for her hope chest.
2/How would you like for Tim Hefner and Steve Greene to play you a song?
3/Tim Hamlin returns the ball for a quick win.
4/Sophomores sign up to one of the many floats offered.
5/Becky Justice learns the numerous techniques of macrame.
6/Mr. Scott warms up for a concert in the car.
7/Jeff Gilliland wonders if his arrow will hit the same black cat as Ricky Garren's did.

The 1974-75 Chorus presented director Marion Smith with several interesting problems. Along with the veteran juniors and seniors, came the innocent, sophomores. Mr. Smith toiled daily and presented his harmonizing virtuosos for debut at the Kiwanis and Rotary luncheon, which was followed later in the year by concerts, two outside appearances, and three assemblies, the high point being the Christmas assembly for the students.

"crack-voiced"

1/These students represented our school at Mars Hill Choral Clinic; Sam Nuckolls, Michelle Raymond, Debbie Sosebee, Gloria Waters, and Sheila Connor.
2/Mr. Smith finds a walk outside very refreshing.
3/The 1974-75 Chorus; First Row, Leshea Stepp, Donieca Levi, Barbara Beddingfield, Brenda McDaniel, Michelle Raymond, June Ward, Gloria Waters, Debbie Sosebee, Ann Hudson, Linda Williams, Amy Goins, Terry Pace, Carol Garland, Karen Ward, pianist, Roberta Efferth; Second Row; Sheila Hoots, Shirley Pruitt, Belinda Corn, Wanda Cagle, Anita Guice, Judy Laughter, Carol Cable, Jeff Pace, Sam Nuckolls, Kathy Staton, Bill Johnston, Sheila Osteen, Laverne Osteen, Elaine Summey, Sue Gilbert, Kathy Toney, Debbie Laughter, Pam Reid; Third Row, Iris Surrett, Betty Stroud, Sharon Williams, Danny Greer, Turner Hoots, Mike Hill, Steve Woody, Wayne Smith, David Nichols, Janice Pace, Sheila Connors, Phyllis Capps, Myra Mullinax, Phyllis Smith, Denise Buckner, Susie Tankersley; Fourth Row, Rebecca Justus, Penny Randolph, Faye Hill, Sharon Thompson, Sandra Hollifield, Jackie Hicks, Susan Hinson, Virginia Vaughn, Patti Rogers, Sue Dickinson, Mary Rains, Diane Wells, Vickie Bright, Cathy Jackson and Louise Patterson.
5/This trio contributed a "little extra" to the concerts; Kathy Staton, Sharon Thompson, and Faye Hill.
6/Roberta appears enthralled over the music before her.

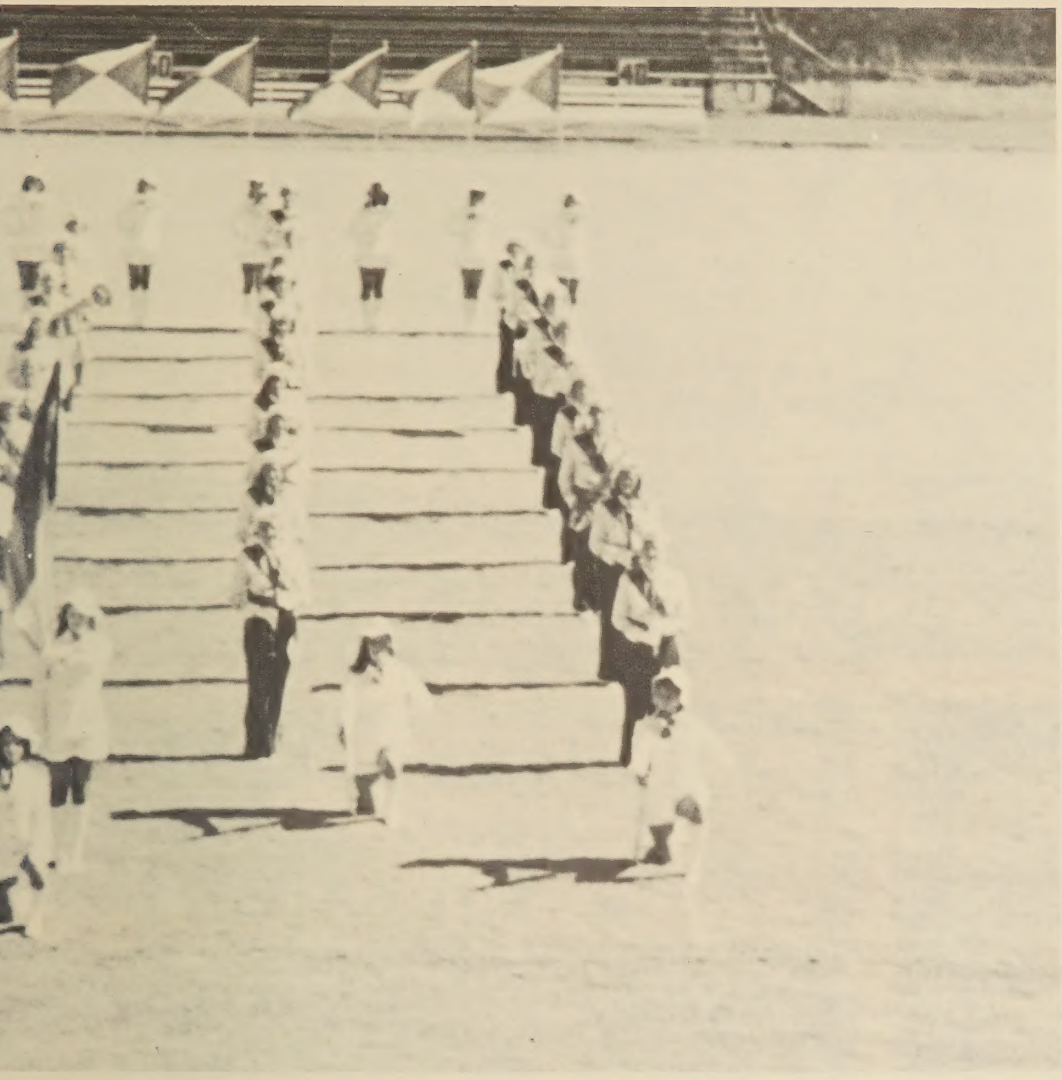
1/The EHHS Marching Band.
2/Mr. Smith smiles over the honors won at Chattanooga.
3/Winning another superior, the Color Guard consisted of Shelia Noblett, Jackie Hicks, Faye Hill, Myra Morgan, Trina Cornwell, Debbie Beddingfield, Kathy Staton, Rita McCrary, and not pictured Sharon Fisher.
4/Drum majorette, Debbie King missed a superior rating by only two points.
5/Twirling their way through fine and foul weather are Debbie Freeman and Nancy Hill.



The band season resumed this year with secret practices

at Flat Rock Junior High. The members sweated and stumbled their way through the August heat and suffered the imposed water rationing of band director Mr. Smith. The lack of water was quickly forgotten when afternoon practice was invaded by a toboggan-toting streaker. The heated and hectic summer practices worked their way around to the first apprehensive halftime appearance. But all nervousness was left far behind as the band went on to the completion of marching season, assemblies and final accomplishment of winning four superior ratings at competition in Cleveland, Tennessee.

1/Flag Corps members are Kathy Hall, Jill Roberson, Martha Sinclair, Kim Barnette, Patti Rogers, Kay Stepp, Debbie Sullivan, Susie Staton, Laura Cornelius, and Rosanne Mackey.
2/Dale Smith's eyes seem to say, "Look Ma, It's me!"
3/The Holiday Inn displayed their congratulations to the EHHS marching band.
4/Drummers roll their way through another day of practice.

Setting the pace for tomorrow . . . Woodworking, Mechanics, and skills in using tools were explored

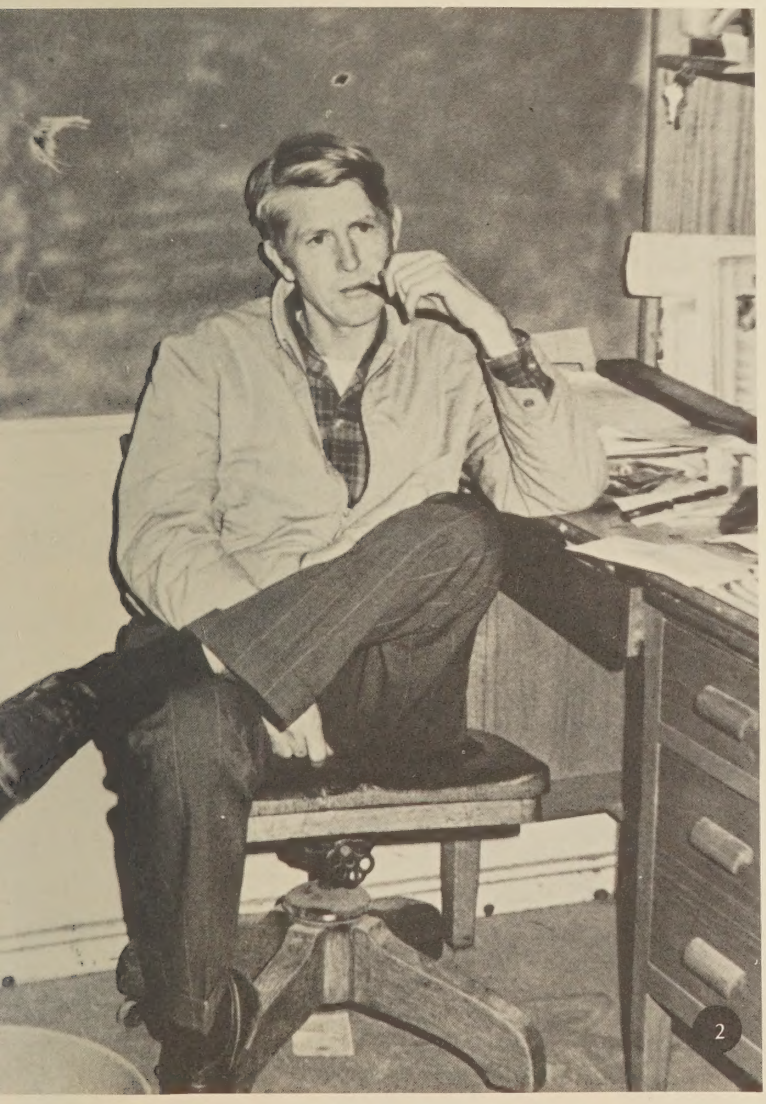
by the students in shop. The greenhouse proved to be a challenge and experience for all the students participating. The Christmas Bazaar provided a chance for the students to display their many creative talents.

1/Mr. Ashburn prepares for his next class.
2/Mr. McCall calmly reflects on the world's problems.
3/Gee, I didn't know I could do that.



1/Billie Nix and Diane Osteen compare grades on term papers.
2/Reading is one of Linda Nix's favorite past times in English.
3/Mrs. Lanier is so tired of lecturing when no one listens.
4/Getting together in a group is one way of completing an English assignment.
5/Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Gray, Mrs. Shaw, Mrs. Lanier, Mrs. Nickel, Miss Loftin and Mrs. Lappin find that tea time is one way to relax during a frantic day of English.
6/Debbie Freeman looks on while Lloyd Pace finishes a term paper.

The English department felt the

of having to assign and re-assign quarter courses for both underclassmen and seniors, with the added weight of writing course outlines for the Southern Association accreditation. But even under the pressure, the familiar sounds of Mrs. Nickell's sandpaper soprano, Mrs. Lanier's "Man-of-LaMancha," Miss Loftin's "Laughing Lunatics" Mrs. Lappins typewriter, and Mrs. Brown's "mumbling" independent readers could be heard echoing through the hallowed halls of D-Building.

1/Mrs. Davidson's long day ends with a smile.
2/Margaret Ward frowns at the thought of dishpan hands.
3/Joan Huggins doesn't cry over spilt milk.
4/Greg Capps refreshes his "ABC'S."
5/Debbie Turner discovers the importance of kitchen clean-up.

Broken shoelaces, disappearing towels in the dressing room, and misplaced shorts are common in the rush-rush

classes of physical education. While gymnastic students worked hard the entire year preparing for Springnastics, other students participated in tumbling, volleyball, weightlifting, softball, football, ping pong, and tennis.

1/Deann Rogers wonders if she should jump now or later.
2/Mrs. Whitmire checks to see that no one has skipped.
3/Ricky King and Jeff Gilliland rest after their hard day of "jumping rope."
4/Coach Hamilton keeps an eye on all of his football players.
5/Joe Wilson tries to intercept the pass but is too late.
6/Coach Morgan silently looks at the volleyball scores.

"More offensive power" combined with leadership and fine effort by the seniors produced a 7-3 record for the season. Other factors such as outstanding performances by several of the players sparked

the concern and dedication of the coaching staff.
Not only did the Eagles rack up a winning season, but found themselves third in the Mountain AAA Conference with only one loss in county clashes. All-in-all a fine season for inspired players and outstanding coaching!

5/Rick Corn follows through on the discus throw.

When asked his opinion on the 1974 Eagle track team, Coach Roy Carter remarked it was a "better than average season." He also noted the team was in the top third of all invitationals attended. After tallying the number of points scored, it was clear that Barry Summey walked away with the most valuable runner award

and Harold Cox copped the most valuable fielder laurel. Steve King was slated most improved team member by the coaches. The team finished second in the county meet and fourth in the conference meet.

East High's cross-country team felt the agony of defeat as they suffered undue hardships. Stiff competition and rough courses became a challenge

as the team toned up. Throughout the season, Ricky King plunged ahead to become the most consistent runner. Coach Jarvis summarized their efforts by saying "It was a good year, but team results weren't as good as we expected."

Braving rain, overcoming sore throats and colds, trying to clap through an entire game with blisters, new shoes and uniforms are all part of being 1974-75 varsity or junior varsity cheerleaders. Overcoming these handicaps, the girls lead the athletic clubs on to victory. They aroused the enthusiasm

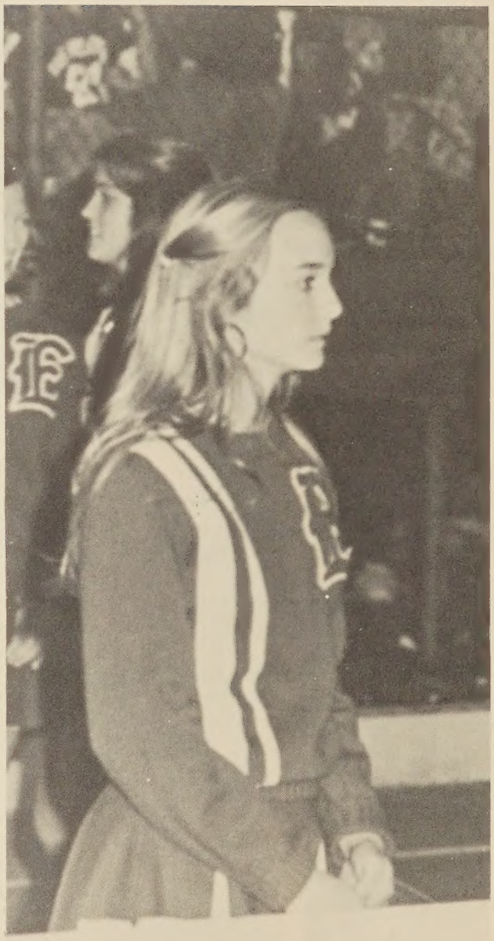
in the spectators as well as the team. And showed their spirit by riding in parades and attending camp this summer where they earned a #1 rating.



1/Junior mischief-makers? No, just the junior varsity cheerleaders reflecting their energetic support of the basketball team. They are: Connie Pruitt, Kathy Hall, Donna Taylor, Timmie Drake, Tammi Young, Joyce Staton, Sherry Huggins, and Kathy Lanier.
2/Karen Waggoner finds herself absorbed in the tempo of the game.
3/Connie Pruitt ponders the next play.
4/Attempting to encourage school spirit were the varsity cheerleaders of 1974-75; Debbie Mashburn, Rachel Soileau, Cindy Newell, Janice Clapp, Jenny Thompson, Karen Waggoner,and Sandra MacKendrick.

6/Joyce Staton puts on the warpaint before a big game with Hendersonville.

Whistles, sweat, thuds of the ball on the rim, quickness of the players precision, fouls, all of these filled the basketball season of 1974-75. Through defeat and disgust, confidence

played an important role in the boy's varsity basketball team and gave them the determination to go on and make a better team.

"The one most important word in the English language is 'We'!" This was the motto which the Lady Eagles and Mr. Wayne Morgan took during the '74-'75 season. Everything was a team effort. High scoring from Cheryl Grindle and Kim Grasty yielded the team a 5 and 16 record. The remaining 3 starters, "Sam" Johnston, Kathy Staton, and Barbara Walker added continued

in ballhandling, rebounding, and balanced scoring.
Striving to make their last year the best, the senior co-captains "Sam" Johnston, Kathy Staton and Cheryl Grindle proved their leadership qualities by inciting spirit within the team for the year 74-75. The J.V. boys, playing the first basketball games of their high school career, found it to be different from playing in Jr. High. A new coach, new plays for offense, new zone defenses as well as the old man to man, and a new atmosphere were to greet them as the season began. But, by practicing hard, giving a team effort, and using basic and balanced scoring, the boys enticed their audience by engaging in 3 overtimes, winning by 1 2, or 3 points, and by feeling the agony of defeat when the game was lost by 1, 2, or 3 points. As the season progressed, the boys have shown steady improvement and can look forward to joining the varsity squad next year.

The 1975 Gymnastics team was composed of the Advanced Gymnastics class sponsored by Mrs. Louise Whitmire and Coach Wayne Morgan, who took the place of Thomas Williams, as coach for the boys. The team showed a lot of enthusiasm, spirit and in competition at the frequent halftime performances at basketball games. Members of the team went "all around" this year with routines on the floor and apparatus. The team was honored with a visit from a troup of gymnasts who participated in the Winter Olympics.

confidence, and willingness to play.
Team members were Mark Wallace, Alan Driskell, Norman Sams, Greg Hunnicutt, and Lester Waldrop. Greg Hunnicutt had the honor of being the most valuable player after obtaining the lowest score.

The 1974 girls' volleyball team was a first for East. Under Coach Wayne Morgan, the J.V. girls had a very impressive 8 and 2 record while the varsity girls had a 6 and 4 record. They played with

and showed a lot of hustle.

5/True perfection is a must in many stunts.

Springnastics last year featured the circus (gymnastic spelled backwards), the only show with more rings than Ringling Bros. And as a year of practice worked its way around to the final hectic week of preparation: "Is the high bar fixed yet?" . . . "Where's Mama Lasagna; she's on next?" . . . "Be quiet — the crowd can hear you back there!" . . . "And now Ladeez and Gentlemen, the pièce de resistance, the grand finale and with the finale the graitified sighs and applause for a job well done!"

The 1974 cast of the Spring Production directed by Miss Joyce Loftin, chose to do the story of Jesse Stuart as a young teacher starting his career in a one room school house in the mountains of Kentucky. Scene by scene "The Thread That Runs So True" unfolded understanding and love of people.

If I could save time in a bottle
The first thing that I'd like to do Is to save ev'ry day 'til eternity passes away
Just to spend them with you
But there never seems to be enough time
To do the things you want to do once you find them.
I've looked around enough to know that you're the one I want to go thru time
with.
If I could make days last forever,
If words could make wishes come true;
I'd save ev'ry day like a treasure and then again I would spend them with you.
If I had a box just for wishes
And dreams that had never come true;
The box would be empty except for the mem'ry of how they were answered by you

But there never seems to be enough time
To do the things you want to do once you
find them.
I've looked around enough to know that you're the one I want to go thru time
with.

Homecoming — a time students will reflect upon as one of their more cherished

memories. Nominees were presented to the student body during an assembly in the morning — and then the waiting began. Night fell, half-time arrived and Dr. Ledbetter crowned the 1974 Homecoming Queen — Billie Nix.

Verily on the eve of the twenty-seventh of April, in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and seventy-four, the Junior class of East Henderson, did bring forth and present to the Senior class the medieval world of Camelot. The evening was full of gaiety, music and merriment. Music was presented by a group of wandering minstrels, from the province of Charlotte. King Arthur's pages served throughout the evening bringing food and unwittingly providing cheers for the merrymakers.

Student Council, along with Interclub Council sponsored several school activities vital to the school program. This year they helped in projects ranging from soc-hops to Christmas caroling to a Sadie Hawkins Day celebration. Led by President Lloyd Pace, Vice President Janice Johnston, Secretary Joy Justus, and Treasurer Kathy Freeman, they proved deserving of being named one of the top nine student council in the state.

The respected organization, National Honor Society initiated many promising new members this year. The club once again proved themselves outstanding in scholarship, leadership, and character. For Christmas, NHS sponsored food baskets, and tray favors for hospital patients, along with a variety of other projects.

Karen Bayne and Jenny Thompson presided as President and Vice-President, while Laura Cornelius served as Secretary. Mrs. Betty Brown still held sponsor's position, and Janet Thompson served as Treasurer.

capabilities

in their participation in school and extra-curricular activities with constructing a float for the Apple Festival Parade, selling Tom Watt Kits, setting up a booth at the W.N.C. Fair, and serving at the Junior-Senior each year, F.H.A. members were extremely involved. The F.H.A. girls were led in their activities by President Susan Killian, and the HERO Chapter was led by President David Nickells.

Hill, Cathy Hill, Pam Steele, David Nickell, Sandy Stepp, Greg Capps, and Kathy Lanier.

Italy made a delightful visit this year in the form of Maria

Concetta

Mattei, East's foreign exchange student. Tootsie Pops and Sugar Daddies satisfied customers' sweet tooth who bought these candies from AFS members. The annual Donkey Basketball game was another project. Chairman Karen Waggoner, Co-chairman Debbie Moxley, Secretary Margaret Ward, and Advisor Mrs. Foster led the club activities.

Due to a late start, the Key Club was not quite as active in '74-'75 as in years past. However, plans for several school and community service projects were

by President Steve Woody, Vice-President John Horton, Secretary Mike Bayne, Treasurer John Fain, and Advisor Mr. Ford.

2/John Horton, Mike Bayne, John Fain, and Mr. Ford display proudly their future.

This year, Keyettes found themselves busy . . . sponsoring the canned food drive and helping Kiwanis with their annual pancake supper for the loan scholarship program. Keyettes proved their spirit by putting up a Homecoming display, ringing bells for the Salvation Army, and collecting money in memory of Marvin Lance. The Keyettes showed

for others in various other ways also. The club members were aided in their work by President, Janet Thompson; Vice-President, Rosanne Mackey; Secretary, Karen Waggoner; Treasurer, Joan Huggins; and Sponser, Mrs. Shaw.

Members of the Distributive Education Clubs of America received on-the-job experience

in chosen fields and also operated a store daily which offered such items as school supplies, pillows, and personalized buttons. Deca members purchased the button machine and formed a classroom corporation which sold stock shares and issued dividends. Deca officers were President Carolyn Williams, Vice President Dena Justus, Secretary Samyra Jones, Historian Valerie Coggins, Treasurer Vivian Owens, Parliamentarian Danny Ashe, Reporter Leslie Eicholtz, and Photographer Linda Clemmons.

Interact got off to a good start with its operation of the concession stand at Rotary's Fabulous fourth on July 4, '74. Meeting in the fall, Interact planned other seasonal projects including a September participation in the Homecoming display contest, preparation of a Christmas basket for a needy family plus the ringing of bells for the Salvation Army. In the Spring, Interact sponsored their annual dogwood tree sales.

For the first time in two years, the Future Farmers of America could boast of an East High chapter. This year the chapter reorganized

with President Mike Hill, Vice-President Mike McGaha, Secretary Gary Ruff, Treasurer Pat Patterson, Reporter James Maybin and Sentinel Dennis Jackson. Their purpose was to provide instruction in agriculture and natural resources, and to develop leadership, citizenship, and cooperation. The club carried out their goals with multi-county contests in Land Judging and Tool Identification as well as food basket preparation and baskets for needy families.

Tri-Hi-Y, as a service club, carried out many community projects. Their visits to the hospital cast a cheerful

reflection on those they encountered. Members also visited rest homes, here again leaving happiness.
President Michele Raymond, Vice-President Melinda Laughter, and Secretary-Treasurer Anna Stewart, and Mrs. Crawford as advisor led the group activity.

In 1974 many

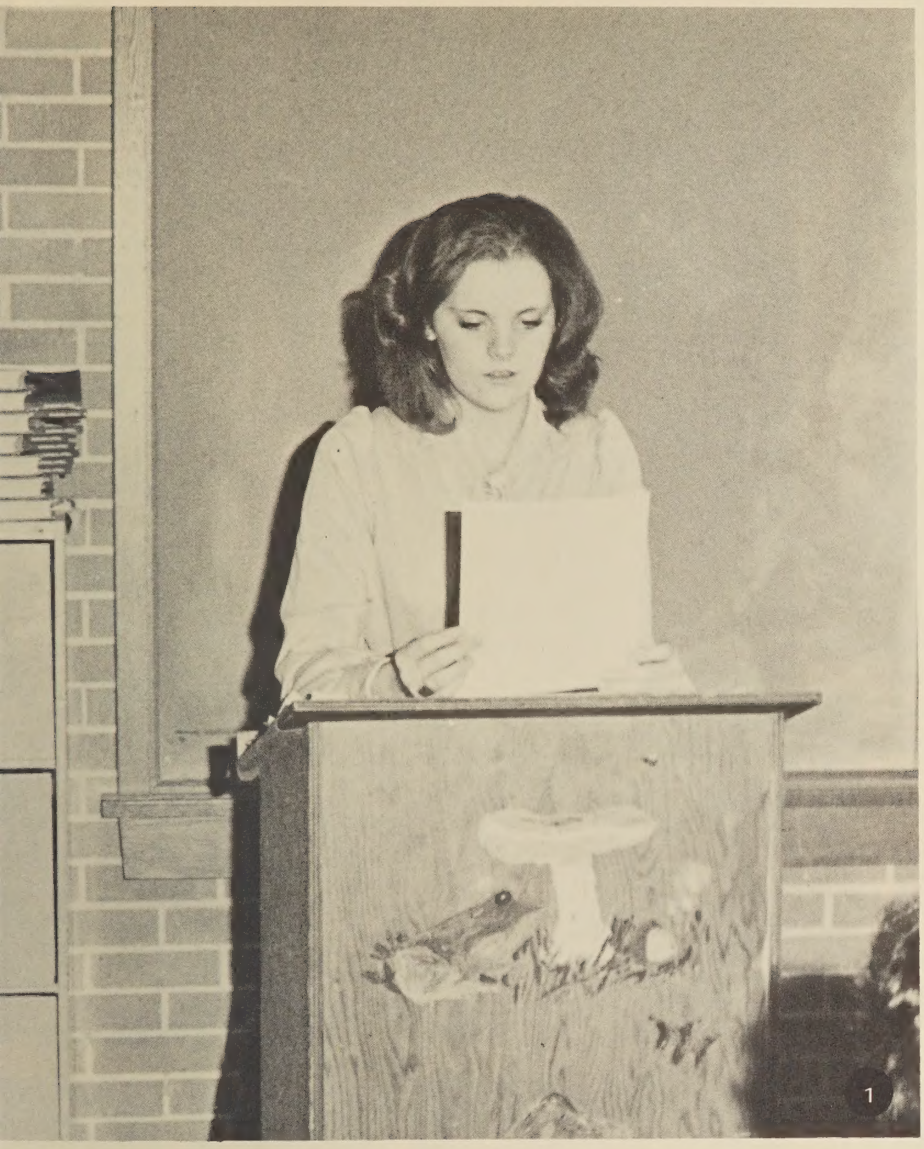
took place in the drama club. Starting the year off with a bang the Drama Club sold green and white pennants to promote school spirit. Fund raising was a major concern for the club and selling candles at the X-mas bazaar helped add to the treasury. While attending the UNC-A workshop, drama officers and representatives learned how to stage combat, build sets, and analyze film technology.

1/Making advances in drama this season are; Left to Right; Sandy Stepp, Diane Wells, Becca Taylor, Tammy Laughter, Phyllis Capps, Pam Steele; Miss Loftin (sponsor), Joyce Shuford (vice-president), Michael Freeman, Vicki Ward, Susan Killian, Melinda Laughter, Judy Laughter, Sally McDaniel, Barbara Browning, Rita McConnell; Debbie King (secretary), Susan Staton, Margatet Ward; Phillippa Smith (historian), Mike Capps, and Concetta Mattei.
2/Reminiscent of EMILY IN OUR TOWN, Kathy Lanier, president, surveys the stage from the upstairs window.



Jr. Civitan, a club dedicated to promoting good citizenship, moved outward during the past year. Claxton Fruit Cakes were sold during the holiday seasons as a community service

project and "Dry Packs" testing for diabetes were prepared for distribution.
Margaret Ward served as President, Laura Cornelius served as Treasurer, Debbie Corbett as Secretary, and Mr. Jarvis as advisor.

1/"I have some business here that we need to discuss . . ."

This year, the Highlander staff recognized a club that paid no dues, held no meetings, and the only constitution required the students to be interested in the sales and distribution of magazines. With the help of Mrs. Barnwell, classes were "skipped", prizes were offered and a trip for pizzas and ice cream was given Mr. Jarvis, top homeroom. Ending the sales, Dr. Ledbetter faced the consequences of his challenge by eating in his dog house after the total sales reached $11,000. The movie BRIAN'S SONG was seen for selling four or more subscriptions.

A canned food drive at Christmas time was one of several projects the Future Business Leaders of America initiated to benefit

others. The club also sold posters as a money-raising project.
Linda Brownfield served as the President, Debbie McClure as Vice-President, Virginia Vaughn as Secretary-Treasurer, Kay Carland as Reporter, and Vicki Bright as Historian.

1/First Row: Left to Right: Pam Hensley, Susan Duncan, Sherry Rhodes, Teresa Nally, Renee Hoots, Kay Carland, Teresa Jones, Sheila Hoots, Sharon Thompson, Linda Pace, Patricia Case. We have grown in numerous ways and yet we still must strive to achieve a higher goal, that of

understanding ourselves and others. Only in this way can we continue in our search for unity.

THE SEARCH.
THE SECOND SUMMIT—
A TIME TO REFLECT,
LOOK BACK UPON—
FRIENDS, ENEMIES, JOYS,
SORROWS,
OLD TIMES.
TIME FOR MEMORIES
IS SHORT, THE PATH
WINDS ON, THERE ARE OTHER SUMMITS TO CONQUER—MOVE ON.

SENIORS
FRESH MAN

A time to be bored and a time to cry.
A time to enjoy and not much time to study.
A time to love and a time to be loved.
A time to study and a time to sleep.
A time to get good grades but more time to get bad ones.
A time to be filled with school spirit and a time to get involved.

A time to break in front of the lunch line as an underclassman and a time to do it legally as a senior.

1/Senior class representatives are: Karen Bayne, Marcia Pace, Mike Jones, Rosanne Mackey, Susan Killian, and Benji Banks. Not pictured is Susan Hinson.

A time to have senior pictures made and a time to get sick once you see the pictures.
A time for SAT's and a time for preparing for graduation.
A time to fill out applications for colleges but more time to worry about whether or not they will accept you.
A time to wonder about tomorrow but more time to look back at yesterday.
A time to graduate and a time to wonder how you ever made it this far.
Each senior in his four years at East had a time to be involved so that in time we became the class of '75.

money and the world of work

Just think back a half dozen years and recall the allowance you may have gotten before you entered your teens and started earning money on your own. That sum — whether it was 50¢ a week or more — wouldn't go far today.

It becomes apparent, no matter how you look at it, that money has no value in itself. It's only so much paper or bits of alloy.

Only work — and the things work produces — has real value.

We work for someone. We get money. We use that money to buy the work (the goods and services) of others. That's the system.

But to make the system work properly, everyone who's able to work has to give as much value for the money he earns as he expects to get for the money he spends.

Take this example: When you set out to buy a new car, or a stereo, or a washing machine (the work of others), you demand top quality workmanship — the very best.

And that's why you need to do your very best . . . meeting the needs of your job and the customers it serves — no matter what you do now, or in the future.

That's the way the system has to work.
